May 1, 2018. I was on the open ocean searching the seven seas for treasure and new mates. A storm came up suddenly which tore my ship in two and threw me into the sea. Naturally my wooden leg kept me afloat until I reached an island. As parts of my ship came floating ashore I wasted no time in exploring the island and realized that I was stranded on this small island. If I was going to live here I would need shelter so I set to work building what I could from the pieces of ship that washed ashore. I finished my shelter just as night fell and was asleep in no time.

May 2, 2018 I awoke and to my surprise there on the beach I found _____.
